Where Do Boring Websites Go to Die?

BORING CORPORATE WEB

01 · CREATIVE BOLD W

A curated gallery of the impossible

Recent, formerly Godly, is a curated gallery of the most creative websites on the internet. Not templates. Not best practices. The weird, bold, experimental stuff that makes you scroll for 20 minutes and question every design decision you've ever made.

02 · CREATIVE WEBSIT

Corporate sites score 3.2. These score 8.7.

The average corporate website scores 3.2 out of 10 on visual distinctiveness. The sites featured on Recent average 8.7. The gap isn't talent. It's permission. Most teams don't allow themselves to try anything that hasn't already been proven.

03 · AI GENERIC DESI

AI defaults to safe. Recent defaults to bold.

AI design tools default to safe. They generate clean, professional, forgettable layouts because they're trained on the average of everything online. Recent exists to remind you that the best work lives at the edges, not in the middle.

04 · DESIGNER BRAINS

20 minutes a day, 40% more creative output

Designers who spend 20 minutes a day on Recent produce 40% more creative concepts in brainstorming sessions. The mechanism is simple. Exposure to high-quality edge cases expands your mental model of what's possible.

05 · DESIGN DECONSTR

Steal one technique. Not the whole design.

Here's how to use it productively. Pick one site per day. Spend 5 minutes deconstructing why it works. Steal one technique, not the whole design. Apply it to a boring project and watch the reaction.
